The Bank Hacks

Getting approved with challenged credit isn't about luck; it's about knowing exactly what the underwriting algorithm is looking for. Before you apply, follow these two critical rules:

The NSF Rule: Subprime lenders review your bank statements primarily to look for Non-Sufficient Funds (NSFs). Even with terrible credit, if your bank account shows 30 days of clean history with zero bounced payments, your approval odds jump by 40%.

The "Shotgun" Warning: Walking into a traditional dealership destroys your credit. Dealerships "shotgun" your application to 15 different lenders, creating 15 hard credit pulls on your file in a single day. This can drop your score by 50 points. As an Auto Broker, we pull your file exactly ONCE and route it to the single lender who will approve you.

The 15% Math Rule

Lenders use a strict Payment-To-Income (PTI) ratio. If you want a guaranteed approval, you must target a car payment that is under 15% of your gross monthly income.

Example: If you make $4,000 a month, the absolute maximum car payment a lender will approve is $600/month. Knowing this stops you from applying for loans you'll automatically be declined for.

Vehicle Selection Rules

People with bad credit often try to finance the wrong vehicles (like a 10-year-old luxury car), which guarantees a rejection. Lenders approve the car as much as the person.

The Golden Rule: Don't shop for the car first. Secure the approval first, so you know your exact budget and lender restrictions. When you do select a car, target newer domestic cars or reliable imports (Hondas, Toyotas) with lower mileage. Lenders advance more money against reliable assets.

W2 / T4 Employees Document Checklist

Because of how you earn your income, lenders require specific proof. Gather the following documents right now so your application can be instantly approved:

- ✓ Your 2 most recent pay stubs
- ✓ Valid Driver's License
- ✓ A void cheque or pre-authorized debit form
- ✓ A Job Letter (ONLY if you have been at your job for less than 6 months)
